

Neurophysiology Specialist / Lead

Job Summary

We are looking for a licensed neurofeedback professional who specializes in the treatment disorders of the brain including traumatic brain injury, Alzheimer's, and other brain abnormalities. This person would be able to perform the QEEG, read and interpret the results, and select protocols that are appropriate.

Preference will be given to a BCIA certified professional or one who is willing to complete certification within 6 months

Responsibilities

- Assists, quality audits a team of neurophysiologists and improves their performance.
- Answer questions about the brain's structure and functions.
- Assessing the symptoms of brain injuries or abnormal brain functioning, such as strokes, Alzheimer's disease, or dementia.
- Treatments for specific brain injuries.
- Oversee tests of mental faculties
- Assisting patients to reach their treatment goals.
- Participating in conferences and seminars to keep abreast of recent developments in the field.

Requirements:

- A PhD in Neurofeedback and the successful completion of a residency and fellowship.
- A license and certification to practice Neurofeedback.
- 2 years of Experience working on a research team conducting drug trials may be advantageous.
- A strong ability to work in research and clinical contexts.
- Strong analytical skills, attention to detail, and ability to remain focused on the task at hand.
- Strong communication and interpersonal skills.
- Preference will be given to a BCIA certified professional or one who is willing to complete certification within 6 months

Please submit inquiries to:

Arasi Prasad

Regenerative Medical Group

615 E Chapman Ave

Orange, CA, 92866

Email: aprasad@rmg.life